OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY RESERVE

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

The mission of the United States Army Reserve (USAR) is to train and sustain trained, ready, and relevant units and soldiers for mobilization and employment in support of the National Military Strategy. Today's Army Reserve is an augmenting and enabling force--augmenting America's Army in its core competencies of Echelons Above Division Combat Service Support (EAD CSS) and Echelons Above Corps Combat Support (EAC CS), and providing the enabling power projection and split based operations capabilities for America's Army as a Power Projection Army. Today's Army Reserve is a streamlined, dynamic, ready, and relevant force, accomplishing critical daily missions for America's Army around the world.

The Army Reserve's resource requirements must properly be viewed in the context of the Army's daily dependence on the USAR and the USAR's ongoing transformation. The USAR completed it's pre-QDR drawdown in end strength from 319,000 in FY 89 to 208,000 in FY 98. The Army Reserve will balance out it's force structure imbalance by taking a 10,000 reduction in force structure in FY 99.

During this same period the Army Reserve has had an unprecedented mission increase, mobilizing three times--35% of all RC forces mobilized for Desert Shield/Desert Storm came from the USAR, and the USAR provided 58% and 72%, respectively, of all RC forces mobilized for Haiti and Operation Joint Endeavor/Guard. The USAR, during this same period, assumed command of six installations from the Regular Army, two of which are power projection platforms, reduced its management overhead by over 5,000 spaces and completely reorganized its Training Divisions to assume training missions from the AC.

This unprecedented, dynamic reduction in strength, while simultaneously transforming and reorganizing its structure and increasing its OPTEMPO by over 300% has produced unprecedented demands and strains on resource management. This budget submission reflects these dynamic, unprecedented changes. To ensure USAR units in the Force Support Package (FSP) I and II are maintained at the highest readiness level possible, the USAR continued a "tiered resourcing" strategy to prioritize valuable resources on a first to fight basis.

The Operation and Maintenance, Army Reserve (OMAR) appropriation funds operational, logistical, administrative, and management support for the USAR Forces. Additionally, the OMAR appropriation funds support for America's Army in areas including installation management, records maintenance, and personnel support to retirees, veterans, and their families. Costs incurred in providing the support include civilian pay, supplies, fuel, equipment and base operations support. Funding is provided in two budget activities: Budget Activity One (Operating Forces) consists of the following Budget Activity Groups: Land Forces, Land Forces Readiness and Land Forces Readiness Support; and Budget Activity Four (Administrative Support and Service-Wide Activities) consists of the following Sub-Activity Groups: Staff Management Headquarters, Information Management, Personnel/Financial Administration, and Recruiting and Advertising.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
FY 1999 AMENDED BUDGET ESTIMATES
OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY RESERVE

The FY 1999 OMAR budget request of $1,202.6 million provides training and support for a force of 208,000 Army Reserve soldiers and 10,839 civilian employees including 6,474 military technicians. The support role of the USAR will be further enhanced in FY 1999 with the fielding of the M915/M916 series trucks and Heavy Equipment Transporters (HET) for additional transportation roles and missions.

The reality of decreased financial resources has made program prioritization increasingly important. The OMAR budget funds, in accordance with tiered resources, the support for IDT and AT of troop program unit soldiers critical to providing and sustaining basic individual and collective training skills needed to achieve mission readiness. As the Army has downsized, the relevance and criticality of the USAR becomes even more significant as the primary provider of required Combat Support and Combat Service Support capabilities for the Army. As the Army approaches the Twenty First Century the USAR's integral role as a full partner in fielding new training technologies and capabilities with its full array of Reserve Component Training Institutions (RCTI) throughout the United States and Overseas will increase. These RCTI's will become an even more critical and readily affordable asset in the training of the Army and all of its components for the future. To fully capture and support TRADOC's distributive education initiatives, the Army Reserve will require the resources to acquire and maintain state of the art capabilities to receive and distribute modernized instructional products at training locations worldwide.

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY RESERVE

Appropriation Summary

I. Description of Operations Financed:

The Operation and Maintenance, Army Reserve (OMAR) appropriation finances all costs, except military (Active and Reserve) pay, of operating and maintaining the U.S. Army Reserve (USAR). It provides for the operations, operations readiness, training support and other operational support of a 208,000 Army Reserve Personnel end strength in the Selected Reserve in FY 1999. In addition to direct support of the USAR, this appropriation provides functional support for communications, logistical functions, and recruiting essential to training and readiness improvement. This appropriation also includes the Army Reserve's share of the AC/RC Support, and support for the Total Army in areas to include Total Army School System (TASS), the Army Distance Learning Program, operation of the Army Reserve Personnel Command. Beginning in May 1996, Army Reserve personnel management changed from a branch functional area-based system to one organized by regional teams, with the consolidation of the Army Reserve Personnel Center (ARPERCEN) and the Full Time Support Management Directorate. The end result of this consolidation is the establishment of the new Army Reserve Personnel Command (ARPERSCOM) in St. Louis, MO to replace ARPERCEN effective October 1998.

II. Force Structure Summary:

The FY 1999 Active Guard and Reserve (AGR) and civilian end strengths supported by this budget activity are 11,804 and 10,839, respectively. Included are pay and benefits of civilian personnel and support for the operation of 821 U. S. Army Reserve Centers, 173 Area Maintenance Support Activities (AMSA), 24 Equipment Concentration Sites (ECS), 9 Regional Training Sites, 15 Aviation Support Facilities, 6 Installations and 4 Battle Projection Centers.

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY RESERVE

Budget Activity: Operating Forces

I. Description of Operations Financed:

The Operation and Maintenance, Army Reserve Operating Forces finances all costs, except military (Active and Reserve) pay, of operating and maintaining the U.S. Army Reserve (USAR). This budget provides for the training and operational support of a 208,000 Army Reserve Personnel end strength in the Selected Reserve in FY 1999. In addition to direct support of the U. S. Army Reserve Forces, this appropriation provides functional support for automation, communications, and logistical functions essential to training support and readiness improvement. This budget provides for manpower authorization, individual and support equipment, necessary facilities, automation support, and associated costs specifically identified and measurable to the units comprising the approved Army Reserve force structure, including mobilization base units, training, medical, and reserve readiness support activities. It also provides for related individual training support activities and maintenance and repair of USAR equipment performed at unit level, Area Maintenance Support Activities (AMSA), Equipment Concentration Sites (ECS) and Depot Level Activity.

In response to the Department of Defense Operation and Maintenance Visibility Study of October 1995, the USAR has restructured OMAR Budget Activity 1, Operating Forces, effective FY 1999. The new structure is centered around the operating units' training activity levels and the other areas which provide essential support to readiness activities. The new structure clearly portrays readiness resources and provides increased visibility of all mission resources for planning, programming, budgeting, and execution. The structure encompasses three activity groups which, taken together, present a comprehensive picture of the efforts and resources which ensures the USAR to achieve desired levels of readiness.

The first activity group, Land Forces, represents the funding required to support distinct organizational groups to include division, corps and echelon above corps support forces. Land Forces Readiness, the second activity group, supports key activities which are also essential to operational readiness. These include organizational and limited DS maintenance, Army Reserve participation in Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) exercises, and various combat development functions to include training support functions and power projection enablers. The last activity group, Land Forces Readiness Support, provides the resources for infrastructure maintenance and support, unified command support and other special activities of the operating forces.

In total, this budget activity provides funding to support costs of unit training (e.g., fuel, supplies and repair parts, travel and transportation), special training activities, incremental costs of Army Reserve participation in JCS exercises, depot maintenance costs associated with equipping the operating forces, and the costs of operating and maintaining activities and installations.

Budget Activity: Operating Forces

I. Description of Operations Financed (Continued):

For budget presentation purposes, the FY 1997 and FY 1998 programs are displayed in the new structure to facilitate comparison and provide an audit trail of program changes between the years. As the Army Reserve fine tunes the BA1 structure during future programming and budget phases, the linkages between programs and visibility of resourcing impacts on Army readiness will be more apparent. Budget Activity Group Recruiting and Advertising is in BA1 for FY 1997 only as it becomes part of BA4 effective FY 1998.

II. Force Structure Summary:

This budget activity resources the USAR with an end strength of 11,804 Active Guard and Reserve (AGR) and 10,839 civilian personnel. Included are the pay and benefits of the civilian personnel and support for the operation of 821 U. S. Army Reserve Centers, 173 Area Maintenance Support Activities (AMSA), 24 Equipment Concentration Sites (ECS), 9 Regional Training Sites, 15 Aviation Support Facilities, 6 Installations and 4 Battle Projection Centers.

I. Description of Operations Financed:

Support of combat forces is a major core competency of the Army Reserve. They constitute the Combat Service and Combat Service Support power available to the combatant Commander in Chiefs (CINCs) to fulfill the Army Reserve's mission in implementing the National Military Strategy. This activity group funds Operating Tempo (OPTEMPO) which is the costs of consumables, reparables, fuel, and other recurring operating costs required to maintain a trained and ready force. Land Forces consists of the sub-activities listed below.

DIVISION FORCES: Operation of USAR units specifically designated to support Active Component divisions and division level forces and deploy with their affiliated division or brigade on mobilization. Includes peculiar and support equipment and the associated costs specifically identified and measurable to Modified Table of Organizations and Equipment (MTOE). Excludes USAR combat and tactical support units not specifically designated to support division level forces. The units are fully capable of deploying to the battlefield, engaging and defeating the enemy forces in the threat scenario described in the Defense Planning Guidance.

CORPS COMBAT FORCES: Operation of USAR at corps level combat units. In addition, Corps Combat Forces consist of peculiar and support equipment and the associated costs specifically identified and measurable to these units.

CORPS SUPPORT FORCES: Operation of USAR at corps headquarters and corps level combat support units which provide critical support functions for divisions and corps combat forces. These units provide command and control, combat service and combat service support functions, and other support required to establish and sustain a corps' war-fighting capability in order to meet the threat scenarios described in Defense Planning Guidance. These forces are utilized to deploy, sustain, and command and control the combat forces.

ECHELON ABOVE CORPS FORCES (EAC): Operation of USAR at EAC units, separate from divisional and corps units, that directly support operations within the specified theater. Includes peculiar and support equipment and the associated costs specifically identified and measurable to these units.

I. Description of Operations Financed (Continued):

LAND FORCES OPERATIONS SUPPORT: Conduct of force related training for USAR at Combat Training Centers (CTCs), National Training Center (NTC), Joint Readiness Training Center (JRTC), Combat Maneuver Training Center (CMTTC) and Battle Command Training Program (BCTP). Funds Direct Support/General Support (DS/GS) maintenance of tactical equipment performed by TDA installation maintenance organizations. This does not include funding for Depot Maintenance.

II. Force Structure Summary:

This budget activity group resources USAR units at Divisions, Corps, and Echelons Above Corps (EAC) units. The package provides for manpower authorization, individual and support equipment and associated costs specifically identified and measurable to the units comprising the approved Army Reserve force structure, including mobilization base units. It also provides for related individual training support activities and maintenance and repair of USAR equipment performed at unit level, Area Maintenance Support Activities (AMSA) and Equipment Concentration Sites (ECS).

Budget Activity: Operating Forces

Sub-Activity Group: Depot Maintenance

I. Description of Operations Financed:

Provides funding for depot level maintenance for the recovery, repair and return to combat forces of major equipment components and end items, as well as Test, Management, and Diagnostic Equipment (TMDE) support including medical TMDE. Depot maintenance is the USAR's strategic maintenance sustainment base fund and is the only source of supply and maintenance dollars for fully reconditioned/overhauled end-items. These end-items fill equipment shortages, modernize the force and ensure the equipment readiness within the USAR for the Army's warfighting CINCs. Provides for the overhaul and sustainment of aircraft, electronic equipment, calibration services and tactical vehicles. Accomplishes work on combat vehicles as identified by the Combat Vehicle Evaluation Teams. In addition, evaluates and supports maintenance on general support, construction equipment and cyclic maintenance on watercraft.

II. Force Structure Summary:

This budget sub-activity resources USAR depot maintenance, providing for the procurement of all repair parts, materials, components and services required for depot level repair and support of USAR equipment. This program supports the USAR tiered funding program in that FSPI and II units receive the first priority to ensure equipment and unit readiness.

I. Description of Operations Financed:

Provides for personnel, rentals, supplies and services for personnel administrative services to USAR Troop Units and the Individual Ready Reserve. This activity includes the automated systems which project USAR training requirements and determines the allocation and reservation of training spaces at Army service schools for the Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) training of USAR personnel. This request also provides for the Office Chief, Army Reserve (OCAR) and the Army Reserve Personnel Command (ARPERSCOM).

In May 1996, Army Reserve personnel management changed from a branch functional area-based system to one organized by regional teams, with the consolidation of the Army Reserve Personnel Center (ARPERCEN) and the Full Time Support Management Directorate. The result of this consolidation is the establishment of a new Army Reserve Personnel Command (ARPERSCOM) in St. Louis, MO to replace ARPERCEN effective October 1998. Complementing the change to a personnel command, ARPERCEN is implementing the Personnel Electronic Record Management System, which converts paper and microfiche records to a modern electronic system with increased efficiency. This consolidation will enhance readiness through the following functions:

1. Maintain a quality force that will receive high resource priority.
2. Program the proper mix of resources to support attainment of USAR enlisted accession goals.
3. Recruit and retain quality personnel.
4. Fully man the USAR with correct grade, skill and experience level.
5. Program and adequately fund military manpower levels, consistent with DPG, as a high priority.
6. Provide military personnel management, administrative personnel services and individual training management for USAR soldiers.
